Economic Scenario

Regarding economic activity, industrial production increased by 0.6% in May over the previous month (seasonally adjusted), interrupting a sequence of monthly declines. Nevertheless, the quarterly moving average remained negative, as it has been seen in the last months. May's result reversed the expected data for certain sectors including, for example, mining, which had been recording positive rates, and manufacturing, which had been on a downward trajectory since mid-2014. Capital goods production continues to record the highest declines, despite the positive result this month.

Retail sales fell by 1.8% over the previous month and 10.4% over May 2014, followed by the restricted retail sales (excluding vehicles and building materials), which declined by 0.9% over April and 4.5% year-over-year. A breakdown of sector sales shows reductions in several important segments, including: (i) vehicles, down by 4.6%; (ii) building materials, down by 3.8%; (iii) furniture and home appliances, which fell by 2.1%, representing the fourth consecutive monthly decline and (iv) supermarkets, down by 1.1%.

On the foreign sector, the trade balance, which recorded a deficit of US$ 6 billion in the first two months of 2015 – normally a seasonally unfavorable period – posted an incipient recovery in the following two months, with a surplus of US$ 0.5 billion. It was only possible to identify a clear change in the dynamics of the trade balance in May – a seasonally favorable period – which result helped boost the surplus by US$ 2.8 billion. In June, there was an even more solid surplus of US$ 4.5 billion. However, it is worth mentioning that this improvement was substantially influenced by the sharp decline in imports, which dropped by 20.6% over the same period last year, versus a decline of 8.7% in exports.

As for inflation, June's IPCA (consumer price index) climbed by 0.79% over the previous month, an exceptionally high level for the period and 0.4% over June last year. As a result, 12-month inflation continued to move up, reaching 8.9% compared to 8.5% in the last 12 months through May. Although inflation was heavily influenced by certain isolated increases in June, it is important to note that the diffusion index, which is the percentage of prices that recorded an upturn, remained at a high historical level of around 70%.

Unemployment measured by the PNAD (National Household Sample Survey) increased to 8.1% in the three months through May, higher than the 8.0% recorded in April and, more importantly, 1.2 percentage points higher than the rate observed in the three months ended on May, 2014. As a result, May was the sixth consecutive month in which the moving three-month average unemployment rate exceeded the number recorded in the same period in the previous year. Average real income fell 0.4% year-over-year, but it was offset by the increase in employment, as a consequence, total wages remained stable. In a simplified manner, the national employment figures confirmed the labour market weakness indicated by the IBGE's monthly employment survey (PME), which is restricted to metropolitan areas, and the Ministry of Labor's official employment registry (Caged).

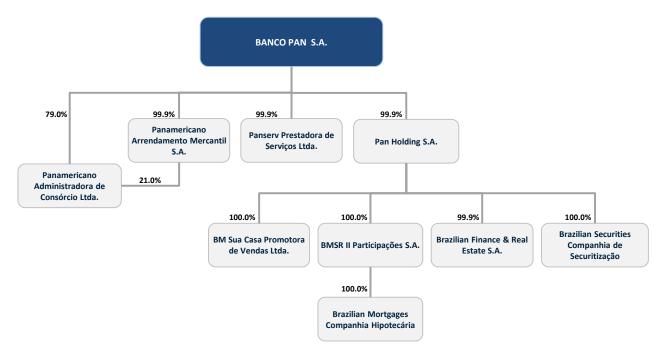

As for the credit market, lending volume continued to slow in May, moving up by 10.1% over May, 2014, versus the annual 10.4% growth registered in April. In real terms, loan operations recorded the smallest expansion since 2007 (beginning of the new historical series), recording an increase of only 1.5% over the same period last year, reinforcing the perception of a gradual moderation. This result reflects the still strong growth of the earmarked loan portfolio and the decline in free credit volume. The average free credit rate for individuals and companies rose for the fifth consecutive month, in line with monetary policy decisions. Considering both, free and earmarked funding, individual default edged up by 0.1 percentage points over April to 3.8%, while corporate default remained flat at 2.3%. Continuing concerns over growth prospects, aggravated by negative consumer and business confidence levels, in addition to the behavior of the job market, continue to exert moderating pressure on lending levels.

Regarding the fiscal situation, the primary consolidated public sector deficit stood at R$ 6.9 billion in May, influenced by the R$ 8.9 billion deficit recorded by the federal government (Treasury, INSS and Central Bank), partially offset by yet another surplus, this time of R$ 2 billion, from the states and municipalities. State-owned companies posted a deficit of R$ 72 million. With the federal government's second primary deficit in the year, the fiscal result fell to R$ 25.6 billion in the year through May, versus R$ 32.5 billion in the first four months, equivalent to only 38.5% of the annual fiscal target.

Subsidiaries

Below we present a summary of Pan's subsidiaries as of June 30, 2015.

Operational and Commercial Agreements

Since 2011, when Banco BTG Pactual S.A. ("BTG Pactual") joined Pan's controlling block, Operational and Commercial Cooperation Agreements were signed between the controlling shareholders and the Company to reiterate the commitment of strategic partnership. Amongst the measures, with direct influence on Pan's capital structure and liquidity, we point out: (i) Caixa Econômica Federal's ("Caixa") commitment to acquire the Company's credit loans without recourse, whenever Pan plans to assign them; and (ii) to strengthen liquidity by interbank deposits received from both controlling shareholders, BTG Pactual and Caixa. These are long-term agreements, estimated to be adjusted and confer to the Bank funding alternatives at a competitive cost.

In addition, since 2012, Pan maintains a mutual cooperation agreement with Caixa establishing a cooperation regime for the structuring, distribution and sale of products and services, including the joint preparation and implementation of plans for the development of products and services for both institutions. The aim is to create synergies and seize opportunities for expanding the product portfolios, among others, considering the complementary nature of their businesses.

The various operational and commercial agreements signed since the formation of Pan's current controlling structure, not only demonstrate these shareholders' strong and continuing support to the Company, but also the complementarity and alignment of interests among all three institutions.

Distribution Network

With 3,547 employees, the Bank has presence in major cities of the Brazilian territory, geographically distributed according to each region's GDP. Carrying on the process of integrating Panserv Prestadora de Serviços Ltda. ("Panserv") and BM Sua Casa Promotora de Vendas Ltda. ("Pan Sua Casa") networks, the number of exclusive points-of-sale fell from 121, at the end of March 2015, to 114 at the end of June 2015. This reduction aims to optimize the group's distribution network and reduce operational costs.

The Bank is also actively present in 9,764 authorized vehicle dealers and resellers, has 1,322 correspondent banks originating payroll-deductible loans and 1,342 real estate brokers generating loans. The Bank also maintains a call center with 146 workstations, which received 535,189 calls in 2Q15, 5.2% less than the 564,812 received in 1Q15 and 12.8% less year-over-year.

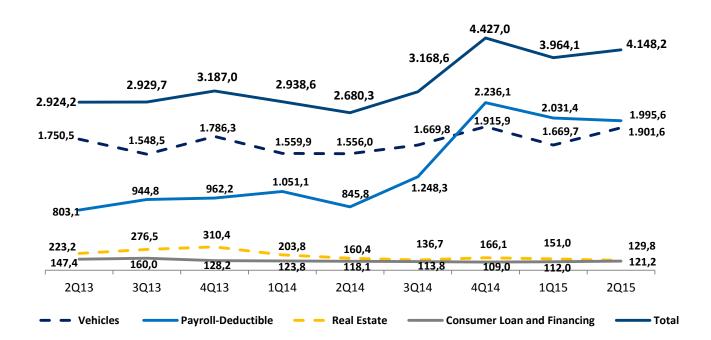

Retail Origination

Despite the slowdown of the Brazilian economic activity and the higher domestic interest rates, Pan maintained its credit asset origination growth trajectory. Retail credit monthly origination averaged R$ 1,382.7 million in 2Q15, 4.6% higher than the R$ 1,321.4 million recorded in 1Q15 and 54.8% more than the R$ 893.4 million registered in 2Q14.

% of Credits rated from AA to C (Resolution 2,682 of CMN)

It is worth mentioning that, as the rating in the figure above observes, in retail portfolio, the scale of Resolution 2,682 of CMN, there is a time gap between its evolution and the vintages originated by the Bank. The year-overyear growth of portfolio with rating B is especially explained by the growth of the corporate credit portfolio, which has a high concentration of credits rated under such category, based on the fundamentalist analysis of its credit risk.

Ratings

On July 12, 2011, recognizing the support provided by the new control structure and the various measures adopted by current Management to reduce costs, achieve a better strategic alignment and improve the Company's operating structure, Fitch Ratings raised Pan's risk ratings, the most important of which, the Long-Term National Rating, was upgraded by three levels, from A-(bra) to AA-(bra).

On August 16, 2012, Fitch Ratings assigned a long-term IDR (Issuer Default Rating) in foreign currency of "BB+" and on January 27, 2014, reaffirmed this rating and altered its outlook from stable to positive.

On November 26, 2013, Standard & Poor's ("S&P") assigned "BB+" to Pan's long-term global scale IDR and "brAA" to its long-term national scale IDR. According to S&P, these ratings were based on Pan's adequate liquidity position, funding it receives from both controlling shareholders and its strategic importance for BTG Pactual.

In April 2014, due to the review of Brazil's banking industry risk evaluation, S&P downgraded the ratings assigned to certain domestic banks, including Pan, which received long-term global and national scale ratings of "BB" and "brAA-", respectively.

In August 2014, Moody's Investors Services ("Moody's") assigned a "Ba2" to Pan's long-term global scale IDR and "A1.br" to its long-term national scale IDR, both with a stable outlook. On June 12, 2015, Moody's maintained Pan's global scale deposit and debt ratings, but altered their outlook from stable to negative, in line with other institutions.

On July 28, 2015, Fitch Ratings has affirmed Banco Pan's Ratings, BB + and AA- (br), with a stable outlook.
